Why study community leadership at Charles Sturt University?

Taught by leading experts, Charles Sturt University's brand new community leadership program will equip people with the skills to build resilient communities and lasting connections. This degree will challenge people to rise to their potential and shape the capable leaders our communities need.

This course is ideal for people working in any type of community-focused role.

We designed this unique degree in collaboration with industry and community experts. We got to the core of what makes communities resilient and how they can overcome challenge, adversity and disruption in order to grow and flourish.

And now we're ready to train the leaders of tomorrow, so they have the skills, knowledge and attitudes to lead for impactful change.

Career advancement

Industry needs community leaders now. Whether aspiring to a management position, or already in one, this course will give people the advanced skills and knowledge they need to become an expert in building communities and building relationships.

A truly tailored degree

Each community and industry has unique needs and requirements. That's why we've developed a suite of micro-subjects that can be mixed and matched to provide people with the right qualification for the job they need to do.

Study as much or as little as needed...

Think of our industry-aligned micro-subjects like building blocks.

- Choose one or two micro-subjects that will complete the required skillset for the job at hand. Add micro-subjects as needed and stack them together to complete a customised degree that will qualify people for the jobs of tomorrow.
- People looking to accelerate their career can complete the graduate certificate in one year.
