

PANORAMA

A MAGAZINE FOR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF
BATHURST TEACHERS' COLLEGE (1951-69)

CHARLES STURT UNIVERSITY

Issue No. 47 SUMMER 2024

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Panorama Readers,

Welcome to our final issue of Panorama for 2024.

Looking back over our BTCAA Year, we held our AGM in March and Committee Meetings in April, July and November at the beautiful Castlereagh Hotel in the city. As always these meetings were well attended and productive, followed by a lunch at the hotel afterwards which gave us a chance to then relax and catch up. BTC Alumni are most welcome to join us, both for the AGM and Committee Meetings throughout the year. These meetings are very rewarding and lots of fun. Contact details are included in Panorama.

Social outings are also held throughout the year and you are most welcome to join us on these outings in 2025. Please contact me if you would like to be sent an invitation to any future events.

This year two lunch outings were held, one to Cockatoo Island and the other to the Wharf Cafe and Bar at Manly. Our next AGM will be held at the same venue on Friday, March 7th 2025 starting at 11.00am and followed by a luncheon afterwards. This year we are delighted to have Stacey Fish as our Guest Speaker. Stacey who is a member of the CSU Alumni Office and Advancement Team (Bathurst Campus) has had a long involvement with BTCAA, in particular supporting the BTC Scholarship Fund through fundraising efforts and assisting in identifying a suitable student each year to benefit from our scholarship. More details of this Luncheon are included in Panorama and we would be delighted if you are able to join us.

Our Scholarship Fund is steadily moving towards our goal of $84,000 which will enable us to make our Scholarship a perpetual one and also allow the annual value of a scholarship to increase from $4000 to $5000. Thank you to all the generous Alumni who are making this possible.

If you have any stories about college days, memories of BTC and early years of teaching we would enjoy hearing from you. We love to include these interest stories in Panorama.

Once again, many thanks to our editor Wayne Bensley for the excellent excellent job he does compiling two editions of Panorama for us every year.

I would also like to thank the Committee for all their hard work and support this year.

In closing I would like to wish you and your family a Merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year in 2025.

--- Carole Sharp (President)

This magazine is being published a little later than usual. This has happened because of a less-than-well editor experiencing some significant medical issues related to a brain surgery that was done many years ago. It has created balance issues, disorientation, lethargy and multitasking problems all not so good for a magazine editor. Otherwise I am well and still able to carry on. Happy Festive season and a safe and healthy New Year (2025)

BTCAA AGM & LUNCHEON

Next year's 2025 AGM and Luncheon will again be held at the Castlereagh Boutique Hotel in Castlereagh Street, Sydney. It will be held on Friday 7th March 2025.

The AGM will be held from 11.00am (arrive around 10.30-10.45am) while the Annual Luncheon will be held from 12.30pm. The Luncheon started at 12.30pm in the lovely art deco Adam room.

The Guest Speaker at this Luncheon will be Stacey Fish (BA Comms., Hon) from the CSU Alumni Office and Advancement Team ... and someone who has a long and distinguished connection with BTC and BTCAA. Please consider coming along and sharing what Stacey will have to say.

CSU REPORT/UPDATE

+ 2024 BTCAA Scholarship Student Impact

This year's BTCAA Scholarship recipient, Imogen Vanderhel, pictured here with Wayne Bensley and Dale Dengate, has had an exceptional year with her studies, enabled by the generosity of BTCAA Scholarship Fund.

Imogen has finished her first year studying a Bachelor of Education (Early Childhood and Primary) on the Bathurst campus. Excelling in her studies, consistently achieving distinction or high distinction grades, Imogen received an Executive Dean's Award for Academic Excellence at the end of Semester One

Each of our Charles Sturt Foundation Scholarship recipients were asked to provide their year in review. Imogen provided the following:

P2

Challenges:

My challenges this year were work responsibilities and financial obstacles. I currently work two jobs whilst studying full-time in order to make ends meet. This can be particularly challenging to balance.

How did the scholarship impact your life?

Being awarded the scholarship enabled me to join teams in the university without thinking that I should be working instead of enjoying myself. It gave me some money that I had to fall back on in case of emergencies and allowed me to feel so supported in my studies and community. I was able to achieve my academic goals this year and the only reason I was able to do so is because I felt supported and was able to take time away from work to study due to the financial help this scholarship gave me.

Thankyou:

Thank you so much to the Bathurst Teacher's College Alumni. This year I have made so many incredible memories and friends, enjoyed the university community and reached academic goals such as receiving an Executive Dean's Award for Academic Excellence, and the only reason all this has happened is because as a group you believed in me and gave me the power to choose to study. I was able to achieve balance between study, work and fun this year, and have had the most amazing time, which never would've been possible if you hadn't given me the support and resources to do so. I am so grateful to you all in the help you have given me to make my first year at uni absolutely amazing.

+ BTCAA Scholarship Fundraising – Appeal Goal: $84,000

The current BTCAA Scholarship Fund is sitting at $73,168.

Thank you to all the generous donors who contributed $6,220 in 2024.

This is only $10,832 off the fund total goal of $84,000.

The distribution from your Charles Sturt Foundation corpus Scholarship Fund is 6%. Reaching $84,000 will mean the BTCAA Scholarship can be increased from the current $3,000 ($4,000 for the 2025 year) up towards $5,000 annually.

This increase will make a tremendous difference to your student and assist with rising study costs.

You can donate directly to the Charles Sturt University Foundation BTCAA Scholarship Fund HERE.

+ Latest THRIVE – Charles Sturt University Alumni magazine

This year's THRIVE magazine is definitely worth a read – featuring BTC in an article 'Pioneering a legacy: Empowering future educators through alumni circles of giving' (page 38-39).

Thrive magazine showcases how our alumni are driving change and leaving their mark - locally and internationally.

Charles Sturt University's alumni prove that education and community are powerful forces for progress. Together, we are shaping the future of regional Australia and making a global impact.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Wishing each of our BTC alumni a very happy, healthy, and fun Christmas with your friends and family.

I am greatly looking forward to assisting you with your scholarship, reunions, and campus tours in 2025. Warmest regards,

Stacey

SOCIAL OUTINGS

As detailed in the President's Report (Page 1) the Social Committee of the BTCAA organises several social outings throughout the year. These are not just for BTCAA members but for any BTC alumni to attend or in which to participate.

In the past these outings have been to Woy Woy, to Kiama, to Watson's Bay, to Cronulla RSL and the Mosman Club. All were day trips only and allowed travel by public transport using your Opal Card, so travel is not expensive or stressful.

The most recent outing was to Cockatoo Island (Wareamah) on Thursday 20th June for lunch and a look around.

Another was planned for a luncheon at the Wentworth Hotel on the Corso at Manly, but it only suited a few so it may be on the agenda again in 2025. Think about it a trip to Circular Quay, a ferry to Manly, a short walk along the Corso and a good lunch than back again. The good part? Minimal walking and all on OPAL card!!

REUNION REPORTS

Towards the end of October, in a very crowded Events-in-Bathurst Calendar, there were three Reunions staged over the weekend of Friday 25th through to Sunday 27th October.

One was the 1964-65 group celebrating 60 years since first starting at BTC. (some pics below). Another was the 1968-69 group who were the last official BTC group before Mitchell College of Advanced Education took over teacher training. The third group was the 1969-75 Mitchell College Group.

There were several meetings over the Friday and Saturday nights at Panthers, the Knickerbocker, the Victoria Hotel and Paddy's Hotel. On the Sunday morning there was a Campus Tour run by Stacey Fish, open to all, but mainly the Mitchell College group. This tour covered the Founders Cottage with its memorabilia display, the Rafters, the BTC Common and water display (not working though) and the old Cunningham House (ex-Women's Dorm) and the Ponton Theatre ... now much bigger than it used to be in BTC times.

REUNION UPDATES

This year, at this point, there is no information about upcoming or planned reunions.

(If there are any planned get-togethers please let me know so that they can be included in the March-April Winter edition of 'Panorama'.

Send details to the editor Wayne Bensley --- <mailto:wrbensley@hotmail.com>)

This magazine is the second solely email and website version of our long-term 'Panorama' magazine. The big advantage is that photos and pictures are in colour and we are not restricted to a multiple-of-4-page publication an 8 pager or a 12 pager. It can be any size ! In the first digital mag earlier this year we have paid tribute to Helen Egan, we have shown photos of this year's BTCAA Scholarship recipient, have reproduced some old front pages of earlier Panorama magazines and have copied relevant parts of an Impact report that was published by CSU at the end of 2023 and highlighted BTCAA and also Helen Egan. I hope you enjoyed this magazine !!

There was some feedback about not receiving this issue (Winter #46) but this intent to go digital and email only was communicated in Issues #44 and #45 and the move for no mailed out version was made with #46.

NOTE TO READERS

The folded and posted out edition of "Panorama" last December (Edition #45 – 2023) was the final such copy of the long term magazine that had it's first publication as part of the BTCAA in March 2001 ("Panorama" #1). There were earlier mags from 1951.

However it does live on but in different forms.

One form is an email copy sent out to people who have their name on the CSU/BTC database. It will come to your email account. Make sure you fill in your email address non the back page so Mike Creenaune can update our BTCCA email recioients list. This will then be also updated on the CSU email list).

The other way of accessing the magazine is to go on-line to Google and search for it by typing in the following URL

www.alumni.csu.edu.au>newsletters>btcaa

OR

<https://alumni.csu.edu.au/news-and-events/newsletters/btcaa>

Click on the Bathurst Teachers' College Alumni Association heading to open the list of available magazines in this archive. You can then search for present and past copies from the list shown. This website edition is also the email edition.

If you want a printed, hard copy you can print one out from the email file or from the website file.

Should you not have a printer ask for help from a younger family member, a community library person, or someone from a Community Centre or Senior Citizens' Centre if they can do it for you. I am sure they will be only to willing to help you out ... (you can tell them what it's all about !)

PANORAMA -- ONGOING PERSPECTIVE/INTENTION

Many of our recent "Panorama" magazines have shared Reunion Events, and stories from many about things that may have been of interest to readers. This has been also evident through all editions of "Panorama" since the originals in 1951.

However it is also becoming very evident that many of our alumni are ageing witness the 2022 BIG REUNION which celebrated 71 years since the birth of Bathurst Teachers College. These 'elders' (aka Pioneers) were into their late eighties and early nineties.

Just a couple of months back (October) there were two BTC groups that held significant reunions here in Bathurst ... the 1964-65 group celebrating 60 years since their first year as BTC students in 1964 and the 1968-69 group who were the last official BTC group before BTC was ended. As a result the usefulness of a regular "Panorama" magazine as a reunions 'flag' seems to be waning.

FYI: "Panorama" is the longest, continuous student/alumni magazine of any college or university in Australia. The first edition was published in 1951, the BTCAA copies were started in 2001 and they are still going today ... this is Magazine #47 (since 2001).

As current editor of "Panorama" I aim to continue this' magazine's publication, but it will be only in digital form accessible through email or via the excellent section on the CSU website.

ONGOING ARTICLES, PERSONAL STORIES FOR PANORAMA MAGAZINE

I am planning to set up an on-going section in future issues of 'Panorama' that gives the opportunity for BTC Alumni to tell briefly (250-500 words max.) and provide some pics about an unusual hobby or achievement, about an involvement in an activity/event that is a 'bit-out-of-the-ordinary', about a recognition or award achieved for dedicated service or long time involvement in an organisation.

If it's an Andy Warhol "15 minutes of fame" activity that would be great to share too.

Please send any story/article/pictures to the Editor of 'Panorama' at the following email addresswith a title reference of BTCAA.
wrbensley@hotmail.com

To kick off this idea I am reprinting an article written for an earlier Panorama that highlights the sorts of things that I think would be great to share. Get to it!!

AN EARLIER "PANORAMA" EDITOR REMINISCES ..("Panorama" #30 Winter 2016)

For the past six years I have had the privilege of acting as editor of the Bathurst Teachers' College Alumni Association magazine, "Panorama", having taken over the role from Dale Dengate who had capably served in this position for many years.

In this, I was ably assisted by Denise Cramsie and Alan Beggs, Alan, sadly, no longer with us, who not only contributed ideas and articles, but also cast their eagle eyes over the supposedly completed copy to find the errors that had slipped through. It certainly made the three of us appreciate the task of the editorial staff on a daily newspaper. How often you read what you think is there, rather than what actually is!

Producing a magazine for teachers is always fraught, because it is not only spelling and punctuation that exercise their attention, but points of style and suitability of vocabulary as well.

However, it has been a fascinating window into the lives of alumni and an inspiration as to how many, on retirement from full-time employment, have gone on to other accomplishments and adventures. We have alumni who have acted as "Angels in the Bush", tutoring children in remote areas, with the aim of giving mothers a break from supervising Distant Education Lessons and serving to give the children a different approach to their schoolwork. Others have become involved in working part-time at TAFE; serving on the Children's Book Council; working for the Black Dog Institute; travelling internationally to give input into educational advances; reading the newspaper or describing plays for the Visually Impaired; walking across the Nullarbor to raise money for a charity – the list goes on.

Some activities were perhaps more frivolous, but also great fun; learning to tap dance; travelling overseas with the University of the Third Age; taking part in the filming of an advertisement to encourage overseas visitors. Alumni used the skills gained from teaching to work in remote aboriginal communities, or volunteer in countries such as Pakistan and Nepal. Others set up storytelling groups, travelling around different schools and captivating children with their tales.

Still others had left their teaching career behind them early and gone on to contribute in other professions. There were no doubt many stories we didn't hear and achievements we did not know of, but one thing seemed clear; alumni were not going "gentle into that good night" but were continuing to make a contribution.

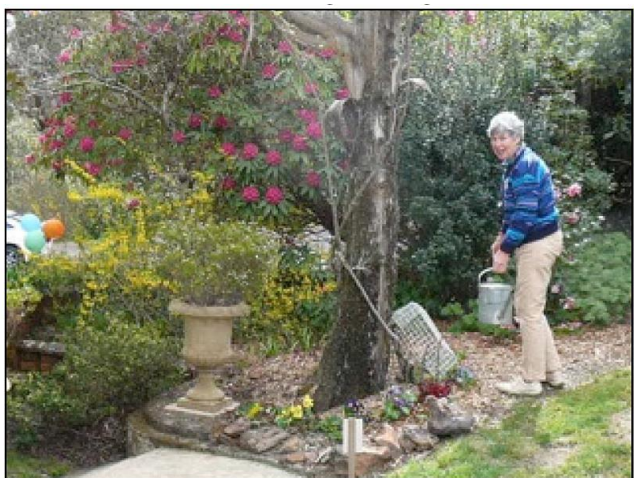

Some of our issues focussed on special areas, such as the introduction of the interactive whiteboard and its associated technology; the importance of music in schools; the funding of State schools while using people who had expertise in these areas to add to our knowledge.

Then there were the tales of the educational challenges that faced us during our careers and delightful memories from those who were sent out to one-teacher schools in remote communities, not exactly 'Wake-in-Fright' experiences, but challenging nevertheless.

At one of our Annual General Meetings of the Alumni Association, our guest speaker mentioned how he looked at his eighteen-year-old son and, seeing how young and inexperienced he was, thought; "What was the Education Department thinking, sending people of that age to a one teacher school!"

The opening of the Memorabilia cabinet in Heffron House in October 2014, the inspiration of Jane Mitchell, Associate Professor in Education, is one way of showing today's students just how much things have changed. During my time as editor, our committee continued to raise funds for the scholarship we present each year at CSU, with one significant annual event being the Open Garden conducted at Gail Metcalfe's home in Katoomba overlooking the Jamison Valley. Here Gail and her trusty helpers served Devonshire teas to visitors strolling through the garden glowing with autumn colours. On the occasion when this event was held in October rather than April, it snowed and the garden was wrapped in white. For five years Gail and her family spent time and effort getting the garden ready, but after this, we needed to give her a break.

Gail Metcalfe in her magnificent garden

We also celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of the BTC on 12th March 2011, with a commemorative plaque unveiled on the day, and the opening of the time capsule instituted by the Pioneers, the first group of students to attend the college in 1951. 2011 also saw the celebration of the 10th Anniversary of the Alumni Association at a lunch in the dining room of the NSW Parliament House. Since its inception, Panorama has served to keep alumni informed of reunions. It has also featured the scholarship winners and celebrated the lives of former lecturers and students who are sadly no longer with us. It advertises the AGM with its array of interesting and informative speakers, sometimes ex-lecturers, other times people from the community, with a highlight of our time being the then Governor of NSW, Dame Marie Bashir in 2014. We have been guided first by the indefatigable Helen Egan, President for ten years and then Wayne Bensley, still serving in that position today. (Since this was written Carole Sharp has taken over the Presidency ed.)

However, the magazine does not exist in a vacuum; we are part of that vibrant and ever expanding community at Charles Sturt University.

When I began as Editor, we were aided by the department known as "University Relations" headed by Michelle Fawkes.

Then in 2010 there was a name change to the "University Advancement Unit" with our new contact being Stacey Fish. Stacey has been a wonderful help, keeping us informed of CSU news of interest to our readers, aiding those year groups who decide to have a reunion in Bathurst, always the most popular and nostalgic venue for those big celebrations and finding time in her busy schedule to try to keep our data base current – not an easy task as we age.

However, Denise and I are retiring from our positions in 2016. For an organisation to remain viable, it needs fresh eyes, new ideas to remain a forward-looking dynamic institution. We encourage any of you reading now, to take up the challenge.

.....CAROLE GOODWIN Winter 2016

Following up on the theme of unusual or different activities, here is a summary of an amazing achievement of one of our early alumni from 1952-53 group and an active BTCAA Committee Member it is a replica leadlight window meticulously made by Olive Lawson.

LEADLIGHT WINDOWS

The window is a leadlight because the coloured glass pieces are held in place by strips of lead to make the pattern. It is an exact replica of a Cistercian original that has its origin dated at 1240AD.

Olive was attracted to the simplicity of the symbolic designs and icons that made up the window she meticulously made a number of years ago (completed in 2000)

The Cistercian name refers to an order of monks and nuns founded in France (in Burgundy). This order was known for its austerity of religious buildings and lifestyle as well as for the wearing of undyed (white) habits.

The original window is believed to have been salvaged from a Cistercian monastery somewhere in SW England (Kent?) Just when that happened is not really known.

The symbolic designs and icons that make up the window were copied exactly in the window that Olive meticulously made a number of years ago (completed in 2000). (See pic opposite).

Olive's replica window was crafted from a template made by using a postcard published at Ely. It was enlarged to the exact dimensions required for her project. The Ely Museum agreed with Olive's request for permission to make the replica.

The original window, dated 1240AD, has survived the terrible vandalism of huge numbers of cathedral, church and religious windows during Tudor King Henry VIII's and Oliver Cromwell's later reigns in the 16th and 17th centuries. It also survived the great London Blitz bombings during World War 2.

This original window is now housed in the Ely Stained Glass Museum within the precincts of Ely Cathedral in Cambridgeshire, England.

Olive had a wish for her replica window to be housed in a permanent place with some historical meaning, a place that is a focus of meditation or prayer where the light from the window can shine into some sacred place. It was officially dedicated and unveiled on Friday 26 May 2017. The ceremony was presided over by Dr Chika Anyanwu (then Head of Campus) and Bishop Michael McKenna (RC Bishop of Bathurst).

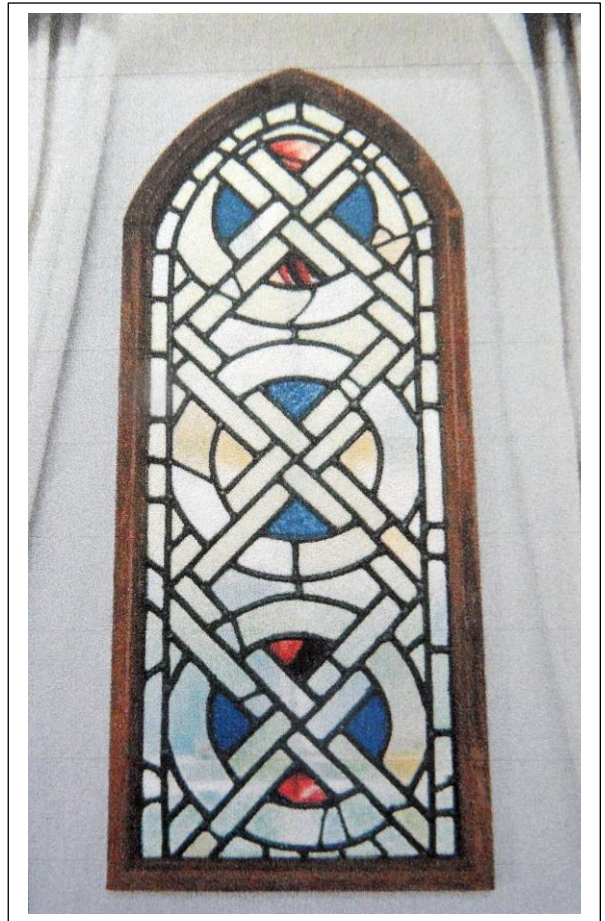

It seems that Olive's wishes have been met with the window now installed in the Religious Centre (Building 1298) at CSU Bathurst Campus. It is in a quiet, religious place which has regular guided bible study and prayers led by a campus chaplain and is used as a meditation room.

(Excerpts from "Panorama" Spring 2017)

STAINED GLASS WINDOWS This is simply something that may be an item of interest. On the subject of stained glass (leadlight) windows, the CSU campus at Bathurst has a fine display in the auditorium of the C D Blake Auditorium. Two seem particularly appropriate to this issue of 'Panorama' one the BTC logo and one the logo of the old Experimental Farm (known to most of us as Heffron House).

Now with a really old, historic connection with Olive Lawson's window there is a mix of old and new on campus have you seen them all??

NOW you have an idea of the kinds of stories, activities or achievements I am after. There must be hundreds of stories (no, thousands) that could be shared with our readers. Every one of you has been more than a dedicated and effective teacher!
