Graduation

April–May 2025

Acknowledgement of Country

We respectfully acknowledge the traditional owners and custodians of the lands on which we live and work together. Charles Sturt University and its staff pay respect to Elders within First Nations communities and acknowledge the continuity of cultures, languages, leadership and knowledge systems. We acknowledge First Nations peoples' continuous connection to Country, recognising the unique, diverse identities and cultures of peoples in our communities, regions and nation. As such, we value the collaboration to strongly position First Nations peoples in our university, through languages, leadership, cultures, knowledges, research and ceremonies.

Yindyamarra winhanganha

is a Wiradjuri phrase meaning

'the wisdom of respectfully knowing how to live well in a world worth living in'.

It's at the heart of everything we stand for at Charles Sturt.

Please be advised that videotaping, filming (including audio) or still photographs will be taken during graduation ceremonies for use in advertising, media publicity, publications, web displays or any other Charles Sturt University purpose. By entering this event, you consent to Charles Sturt University videotaping, filming (including audio) or photographing you and using your image and likeness. If you have any queries or do not wish us to use your image and likeness, please contact brand@csu.edu.au.

Congratulations on your huge achievement!

You now stand on the threshold of a brand new chapter, and today, we celebrate all the hard work that brought you here.

The late-night study sessions. The assignments (whether you submitted them early or just in the nick of time!).

Your persistence and dedication. It all made a difference in helping you reach your goals.

We have no doubt that you'll make a positive mark on your chosen field and we wish you all the best in your endeavours.

Chancellor's welcome

On behalf of Charles Sturt University, it is my pleasure to congratulate you on your momentous achievement.

Graduation is an important milestone, one which marks the completion of your current studies and heralds the start of a new and exciting chapter in your lives.

From today, there are many paths you can walk: first jobs, career changes, promotions, research and further studies. All of these options – and many others – are now available to you.

As Australia's leading regional university, Charles Sturt is proud of the contributions made by our graduates. You too are equipped to leave your mark on the world.

From today, you join the Charles Sturt community as members of our alumni. You have the opportunity to maintain and grow the professional and friendship networks that you have forged, as well as gaining access to member benefits enjoyed by thousands of our alumni around the world.

We wish you the best of luck.

Dr Michele Allan
Chancellor

Vice-Chancellor's message

Congratulations on the successful completion of your studies. You can – and should – take immense pride in your achievement.

With the knowledge, experience and connections you have gained during your time at Charles Sturt, you are uniquely placed to go out into the world and forge careers that make a real difference.

The Wiradjuri phrase 'yindyamarra winhanganha' means the wisdom of respectfully knowing how to live well in a world worth living in. This phrase, Charles Sturt University's ethos, now also represents an opportunity for you to seize: to spread the knowledge you have earned to make the world a better place.

Learning is the product of an active collaboration between university students and staff.

In acknowledging your contribution to the intellectual life of the university, I also recognise the commitment of our staff in supporting our students to achieve the best in their studies.

Congratulations once again and best wishes for the future.

Professor Renée Leon PSM
Vice-Chancellor and President
Charles Sturt University

Our history

Our ethos, 'yindyamarra winhanganha' has been at the heart of Charles Sturt's story since day one. With a history that stretches back more than 125 years, we began as a humble vocational farm at Bathurst, dedicated to empowering rural people with essential skills and education.

Fast forward through the decades and we established agricultural and teaching centres in Wagga Wagga and Bathurst, sharing knowledge so people could uplift their futures and communities.

In 1989, Charles Sturt made its grand debut as a university, named after the British soldier Charles Napier Sturt, who sailed to New South Wales in 1827 to pursue his passion for exploration.

Since then, we've been on an exciting growth journey, opening doors to quality university education for students in regional Australia, with campuses in Albury-Wodonga, Bathurst, Dubbo, Orange, Port Macquarie and Wagga Wagga. But we didn't stop there! We also have study hubs located in Canberra, Goulburn, Parramatta, Melbourne, Sydney and Wangaratta, and our online courses reach people across the globe.

Speaking of online education, Charles Sturt is Australia's largest online university with more than 50 years' experience delivering online learning. The majority of our degrees can be studied online, creating more opportunities and flexibility for our students. We provide social spaces for connection and personalised support, so everyone has a chance to shine – whether on campus or online.

With a global network of partners, our students embark on international study adventures and hands-on learning, broadening their horizons and adding new skills to their repertoires. Our focus on providing practical learning means our graduates step into their careers with a wealth of knowledge and practical experience. They're ready to make their mark and create a world worth living in – which is everything we could hope for.

Charles Napier Sturt

The man from whom the university takes its name – Charles Napier Sturt – was a British soldier who sailed to the colony of New South Wales in 1827 to pursue his passion for exploration.

What to expect

The day you've been waiting for has finally arrived. After all your efforts, time and dedication, you're ready to graduate!

How does it work?

The Academic Senate recommends students to be admitted to degrees. These soon-to-be grads (also known as graduands) have successfully completed their coursework and passed the required exams. The University Council formally admits the graduands, approving conferral of award as graduates.

About the ceremony

University medals

Undergraduate University Medal

Awarded to our graduates from a bachelor's degree, in which at least 64 points of study in the course were completed at this university and whose GPA was 6.75 or higher.

Postgraduate University Medal

Awarded to our graduates from a coursework master's degree, in which at least 64 points of study in the course were completed at this university and whose GPA was 6.75 or higher.

Higher Degree by Research University Medal

Awarded to one doctoral and one master's by research graduate per faculty. At least two examiners must indicate that the graduate's thesis is at a level consistent with the award of a university medal.

Bachelor Honours University Medal

Awarded to one honours graduate per faculty, who has completed at least 64 points of study in the course at the university, and who has achieved Class 1 as an overall grade for the honours course. At least one examiner must indicate that the student's thesis or dissertation is at a level consistent with the award of a university medal.

Charles Sturt Medal

Awarded to one graduate annually who has both an outstanding academic achievement (including a GPA of 6.75 or higher), and has demonstrated a significant contribution to the public good consistent with the university's motto 'for the public good'.

You can spot the university mace and message stick

The university mace

The Charles Sturt mace is the symbol of the university as an independent academy of scholars constituted under legal authority.

The mace is crafted from timbers indigenous to the locations of Charles Sturt campuses. It reflects the traditions and authority of the university, and symbolises its multiple geographies and responsibilities to the people of rural and regional Australia.

The university message stick

A gift from Dubbo Regional Council, this wooden message stick draws on elements of local indigenous culture to represent the Wiradjuri nation, whose borders encompass our campuses at Albury-Wodonga, Bathurst, Dubbo, Orange and Wagga Wagga.

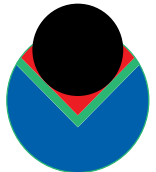

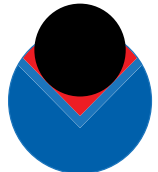

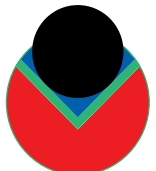

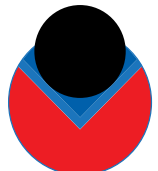

Young and old emu feathers, which hang from the mulga wood message stick, denote students of all ages. A possum painting represents the local Wilay Wiradjuri people and red ochre lines depict the Macquarie, Murrumbidgee and Murray Rivers on which the university's Albury-Wodonga, Bathurst, Dubbo and Wagga Wagga campuses are located.

Charles Sturt has a coat of arms

This symbol bears the arms of the university at the centre. The helm sits above the arms showing a knight's helmet crowned with three golden stars atop which sits the crest – a lion holding three keys. The mantling is dressed in green and gold at either side of the helm and arms. 'For the public good', Charles Sturt's motto, is inscribed to the motto scroll at the base of the arms.

Alumni Give

You can make a difference

Ways to give

As one of our Charles Sturt alumni, you're uniquely placed to help those graduating after you. Our alumni give back in all sorts of ways – including volunteering their time to speak at graduations or university events, mentoring current students, actively engaging on our social channels, hosting and being involved in alumni events, and even starting alumni associations.

Donating

Alumni can also pay it forward by donating to the Charles Sturt University Foundation Trust. Your generous support to a student is far-reaching and is sometimes the only thing ensuring that they're able to complete their degree. As a graduate, you would be aware of the impact even the smallest support can make to your journey. There is no greater gift than education.

Andrea Goodison

Master of Education
(Teacher Librarianship)

"The quality of the lecturers and the practical elements of the units are definite highlights. There's such a high level of professional growth and networking opportunities. So many of the lecturers are working in libraries and it was powerful to benefit from their knowledge and gain insights into how their libraries operate."

Thiery Willa

Master of Ethics and Legal Studies

Thiery studied philosophy in Scotland at Edinburgh University and discovered she was particularly interested in ethics. When she arrived in Australia, she wanted to study both ethics and law.

"Charles Sturt offered a unique combination of legal and ethics topics that matched what I was looking for, so I didn't apply anywhere else. Plus, it was good to be able to study online, meaning I didn't have to move house!"

Thiery particularly enjoyed the flexibility of studying with Charles Sturt. She even listened to lectures on her morning run or while cooking. By studying when it was convenient for her, she was able to keep up with her favourite activities, such as going for a surf on the weekend with her friends. We love when our students have fun while taking their career to the next level!

"I did this course to advance my career, and I'm so glad I did. I have moved on to a PhD in the same field and now work as a casual lecturer with Charles Sturt."

Holly Boyland

Bachelor of Social Work

Holly initially applied to study law because she wanted to become a country solicitor. However, she changed her mind and decided to study social work instead.

“Looking back now I’m glad I chose social work because it’s so rewarding. I chose the Bachelor of Social Work at Charles Sturt because a lot of social workers in my community studied there and highly recommended it.”

Holly found her lecturers to be helpful and inspiring.

“Many lecturers are social workers who have published numerous research articles and podcasts about the modern disadvantages people in society are facing today. I wanted to do what they’re doing. They took their time to get to know us and reflected on our assessments and how we could incorporate what we learned into our practice. They were truly inspirational to those of us who wanted to make a difference in our community.”

While she was studying, Holly worked in a non-profit organisation in her community, gaining more experience working with children and families. She found it helpful in building her social work professional identity, and we’re so excited to see Holly implementing everything she learned into her career.

“I’m working as a caseworker in a non-profit organisation working with children and families. My career goal is to help people in some way and give back to my community.”

Graduates of Distinction

A prize is an award given in recognition of outstanding performance, academic achievement or service.

Faculty of Arts and Education graduates

Professor Andrew Hope
Executive Dean

Congratulations on your graduation. This milestone reflects your dedication, perseverance, and commitment to excellence. Throughout your studies, you have developed the knowledge, skills, and resilience that will serve as a strong foundation for your future career.

I encourage you to embrace new opportunities, continue to learn, and make a meaningful impact in your chosen field. We are immensely proud of your achievements and wish you continued success.

Doctor of Philosophy

With Higher Degree by Research University Medal – Kate Elizabeth Margetson

Moving Beyond Monolingual Practices with Multilingual Children: Learning from Vietnamese-English-Speaking Children, Families and Professionals

This thesis explored multilingual children's speech development through the analysis of Vietnamese and English speech from 66 children and 83 adults. The research focused on speech assessment, transcription, analysis, and differential diagnosis of speech sound disorder. A new evidence-based clinical protocol, the Speech Assessment of Children's Home Language(s) (SACHL), was created to assess multilingual children's speech in their home languages.

Melinda Mai Brooker

An Explorative Study of Followership, Followers and Following Practices in Early Childhood Education Sites in Australia

This study explored how educators in early childhood education practiced followership, examining how role-based leaders and hierarchical workplace setups influenced their practices. Contrary to the idea that followers simply take orders, educators predominantly practiced positive followership by bravely challenging misaligned leadership directives and taking initiative. Positive followership empowers educators improving their wellbeing and job satisfaction.

Brenda Audrey Bruce

Primary School Teachers Documenting Reflections: A Western Sydney Case Study

Teachers reflect throughout their day and document reflections for student assessment and teacher development. Brenda's case study in a Western Sydney primary school found that while there were provisions to support reflective practices, there were overwhelming obstacles that signalled the need for change. This research identified key areas of policy and onsite learning that could better equip teachers and sustain pre-service education in the school environment.

Andrew Donald Clark-Howard

The Reversal of Human Existence: A Study of the Christological Method of Dietrich Bonhoeffer

This thesis explores tensions within contemporary Anglo-American systematic theology by offering a constructive reading of the German theologian and political dissident Dietrich Bonhoeffer. With Bonhoeffer as both a guide and object of critique, I advocate for an understanding of the theological task as a radically critical undertaking that calls into question all forms of hegemonic and idolatrous speech, suggesting new forms of understanding the "systematic" method.

Thomas Michael Earl

Ordination: The Gospel Held in Trust

This thesis demonstrates the necessary place of trust in a Reformed/Evangelical theology of ordination. For much of the history of Christian ministry trust has been assumed: its necessity is established on two grounds. The present bears witness to a public and ecclesial lack of trust in the ordained ministry and other professions. The second reason is theological: ordination relies upon the condescension of God and the placing of trust in fallible human beings.

Bushra Khan

Interactive Digital Narratives in Video Gaming: A multimodal investigation

This study investigates how video games use communicative modes to create engaging stories, using a multi-layered analytical approach to analyse their orchestration and interplay. It explores the importance of these games in developing skills for effective communication and collaboration in the digital era.

Gibson Matimba

Overseas Trained Teachers: Enablers and Constraints to Professional Practice and Social Integration into the Australian Education System

The research explored the transition of immigrant teachers' professional practice and their integration into the Australian education system. The findings included inconsistencies in the teacher registration process, limited opportunities for professional development for the new immigrant teachers, and the dispersal of educational ideas between and within sites of teaching and learning. The research raises awareness of issues around immigrant teachers' experience.

Investigating the practice architectures of grammar pedagogy across the primary years

This study investigates primary teachers' practices in teaching grammar in the Australian Curriculum: English. Using the theory of practice architectures, it reveals diverse practices across different school contexts and the intricate interplay of historical and site-based conditions shaping these practices. Findings highlight the value placed on grammar in primary education and the supports needed to maintain effective grammar teaching in present-day classrooms.

Trauma of Domestic Violence and an Islamic Perspective on Healing: A Case Study of Australian Muslim Victim-Survivors

Domestic violence affects many Australians, causing severe trauma. This research explores how Australian Muslim women heal and grow after domestic violence using Islamic teachings. The findings show that Islamic spirituality drives healing and growth, even alongside trauma. This study helps therapists and community workers provide culturally sensitive, effective support to Muslim women.

Frameworks and Models for Working Safely and Health and Safety Training in Vocational Education and Training for High-Risk Occupations

Over the past decade, over 1,850 Australians have died from workplace injuries, with 195 fatalities in 2022 alone. This study addresses gaps in health and safety training by exploring factors affecting safe work practices in high-risk jobs. Using a phenomenological approach and practice architecture theory, it highlights overlooked risks, training gaps, and organisational issues. Findings inform improved training models, enhancing safety competence and reducing fatalities in hazardous work environments.

Investigating Problem Solving Talk in Early Years' Mathematics Classrooms

This study investigates teacher and student talk in mathematics problem solving lessons in the first years of formal schooling. Conversation analysis reveals the complexity of problem solving talk produced by students as they engage in mathematics lessons. Findings highlight the interactional and mathematical problem solving competencies young students employ to co-produce mathematical learning. Results have implications for early years' mathematics classrooms.

Donald Steven Tamihere

"Ka kohia atu awau ki tōku iwi – I will be gathered to my people": A Kauwhau Whakapapa Reading of Genesis 49:1–50:14

Donald Tamihere offers Kauwhau Whakapapa, the relating (kauwhau) of interweaving life-lines (whakapapa), as a hermeneutical lens to open up, engage, and deeply value, Gen 49:1–50:14. This genealogy is not just a list of names but, in Kauwhau Whakapapa lens, narrative markers of the interweaving life-lines that relate the generation of Jacob's children back to the creation, and forward to Canaan. Tamihere herein relates a much needed life-line for Māori Hermeneutics.

Faculty of Business, Justice and Behavioural Sciences graduates

Professor Lewis Bizo
Executive Dean

Congratulations on reaching this significant milestone in your academic journey! Your hard work, dedication, and perseverance have brought you to this moment, and you should be immensely proud to be graduating today.

As you step into the next chapter of your lives, remember that the skills and knowledge you've gained here at Charles Sturt University will serve you well in all your future endeavours. Embrace the challenges and opportunities that come your way with confidence and curiosity.

The Australian Emergency Manager: A Journey towards Professionalisation

Examination of 20 years of Australian emergency events, coupled with interviews of eight emergency event inquiry authors has led to the development of new definitions for the Australian Emergency Manager, Response Manager and Recovery Manager. Further the "Emergency Management Disciplinary Spectrum" was developed in conjunction with the "Emergency Management T-Shaped Transdisciplinary Model.

Efficient Video and Point Cloud Compression through Common Information Exploitation

360° videos, which provide an immersive panoramic view, and point clouds, which represent 3D objects using millions of data points, are widely used in virtual reality and streaming. However, their large size makes real-time transmission challenging with current bandwidth. This research enhances compression over existing methods by identifying common details, achieving up to 26 per cent compression, enabling real-time transmission without significant quality degradation.

Christine Renee Antonopoulos

Workplace Inclusion: Implicit Bias, Personal Values, and Employment of People with Disability in Australia

This thesis investigated implicit bias towards people with disability in an Australian employment context. It found negative implicit stereotyping of people with disability as incompetent and cold, negative emotions towards people with disability affecting hiring decisions, and associations between personal values and implicit bias. This thesis has highlighted the importance of community attitudinal change to improve employment outcomes for people with disability.

Steven Gary Burton

The Role of Psychology in Witness Protection Selection and Management

Witness protection programs were established by law enforcement agencies to mitigate the risks for personal safety of key witnesses. This is a Canadian case study, examining the admission of a witness into the protection program; eligibility criteria, assessment process and management procedures are evaluated through a psychological lens. Key factors identified from this research will assist in the assessment and management of witness protection participants.

Charrissa Sook Meng Chew-Moriarty

Examining the application of positive social based informal emotional aid to a police officer and the role of family members during a period of emotional unwellness

This thesis examined police officer wellbeing, focusing on the impact and nature of support provided by family members. This research confirmed that positive, informal social based intervention by family members plays an important role in supporting police officer wellbeing and should be recognised as such by police services who are attempting to promote wellbeing and positive mental health outcomes in their organisation.

Genevieve Katherine Francis d'Ament

The holistic understanding of the co-created cellar door experience from staff and customer perspectives: An Australian viewpoint

Data collected via interviews, written memories, surveys and wearable eye-tracking glasses found that the relationship developed between staff and customer was the most valued element of a cellar door experience. A model was created to determine influential individual characteristics and found exceeding customer expectations to be essential to maximising purchase and loyalty behaviours. Findings inform human resource and education policy across the wine industry.

Seyed Ramin Ghorashi

An Information Disclosure Risk Assessment Framework for Organisational Data Sharing

This thesis examines the challenges organisations face in aligning with privacy regulations, implementing effective privacy measures, and assessing privacy risks following data anonymisation. It introduces an innovative privacy framework designed to guide organisations in navigating data protection complexities while preserving individuals' trust. This study enhances organisations' data-sharing practices and ensure ongoing compliance with privacy standards.

Paul Gerald Grant

Wavelets applied to Temporal Data and Seizure Detection from EEG Signal

This PhD thesis proposes techniques to use wavelets to remove noise from time-series data and apply data mining to detect seizures from EEG brain signals. The thesis investigates the reasons why choosing the right wavelet family is important for data analysis. It proposes techniques to break down temporal data like EEG signal through wavelet decomposition into datasets suitable for data mining tasks, classification and clustering, for accurate seizure detection.

Deborah Anne Murdoch

Development of an Ontology of Course Design in Higher Education

Ensuring quality is paramount in course design and delivery within higher education sector so delivered courses meet the highest standards. This research developed a grounded theory-based ontology that guides mapping and design of courses in higher education and other educational fields. A feasible framework assists course mapping to identify whether a course enables students to meet course outcomes in alignment with national standards.

Muhammad Masud Rana

A Lightweight Block Cipher Algorithm to Secure Smart City Resource-constrained IoT Devices

The thesis, 'A Lightweight Block Cipher Algorithm for Securing Resource-constrained IoT Devices,' introduces a new data protection method for IoT devices with limited power and resources. The research shows that the proposed approach effectively secures data with minimal resource use. This advancement is vital for secure and efficient IoT applications, like smart homes and healthcare, without compromising performance.

Ather Saeed

Fault-Localisation and Self-Stabilisation Technique for WSN

This thesis introduces a new method to make wireless sensor networks (WSNs) more reliable and stable. It uses a smart way to find and fix problems. The research shows how to predict the network's condition using math, such as Green's Theorem, to spot faulty sensors in a network. The main contributions of the thesis are finding faults, predicting network health, locating problems, and making the network stable again to ensure it works efficiently and effectively.

Faranak Tohidi

Dynamic Point Cloud Compression with Shape and Density-based Volumetric Partitioning

Compression is necessary to efficiently store and transmit large volumes of 3D dynamic point clouds in applications like virtual reality. Existing methods are not fast enough for real-time applications and sacrifice many points. This research introduces shape and density-based volumetric partitioning to reduce data loss, improve quality, and enhance compression efficiency, enabling faster, higher-quality 3D content transmission and improving real-time applications.

Towards an Enhanced Regulatory and Operational Framework to Combat Counterfeit Trade at the Indonesian Borders

Counterfeit trade has grown significantly, negatively impacting public health, people's safety, the economy. Governments need to intercept shipments of counterfeit goods coming into the country. This study found several concerns on Indonesian regulatory and operational framework to combat counterfeit trade at the border. This study provides recommendations for the Indonesian Government, if implemented, may have positive impacts on the Indonesian economy and society.

Faculty of Science and Health graduates

Professor Megan Smith
Executive Dean

Congratulations on graduating from the Faculty of Science and Health today. As you embark on your next journey, remember your potential to make significant contributions.

We are proud of you and wish you a bright, successful future.

Doctor of Veterinary Studies

Ashley Brabon

Influences on Interfragmentary Compression, Reduction and Stability of Simulated Equine Lateral Condylar Fracture

This investigation compared various techniques for repairing simulated lateral condylar fractures of horses. Three screws placed in a triangular configuration created the greatest interfragmentary compression of the techniques tested. However, when reduction and stability of repairs was assessed, each repair performed similarly. Further investigation of clinical cases is required.

Characterising the Equine Faecal Microbiota in Health and Disease

This thesis provides important contributions to the understanding of the faecal microbiota in horses. The thesis provides new knowledge of the preparation and use of faecal microbiota transplants in sick foals and demonstrates the safety and efficacy of this treatment. The thesis also provided evidence of the interaction between intestinal parasites and the faecal microbiota horses. These findings can be used to improve welfare in horses with intestinal diseases.

Doctor of Philosophy

The Discovery of New and Effective Series of Anti-Cancer Agents Acting through Metal Sequestration and Reactive Oxygen Generation

While the prognosis for many cancers sufferers has improved drastically, chemotherapy for aggressive metastatic cancers remains problematic. Aggressive cancers have two features in common: elevated metal ion and reactive oxygen levels. This project designed, synthesised and tested three new drug classes against aggressive cancer types and these drugs were both effective and safe. The future development of these drugs offers an exciting new opportunity in chemotherapy.

Epidemiology and Management of Botryosphaeria Dieback in Walnut Orchards in Australia

Fungal species belonging to the family Botryosphaeriaceae have been implicated in dieback disease and consequent yield loss in walnuts worldwide. This research identified the species of Botryosphaeriaceae present within Australian walnut orchards and investigated their pathogenicity, and methods of control. The findings of this study proposed a wider selection of sustainable disease management options than are currently available to the Australian walnut industry.

Kelly Ann Baker

Gastrointestinal Disorders in Australia: An Investigation into Management Strategies and Exploration of the Potential Role of Exercise

The findings of the thesis identify that despite current management strategies proving inadequate, exercise may be an effective therapeutic intervention to assist in the management of gastrointestinal disorders, improve quality of life, prevent and treat the development of comorbidities, and counteract concerns with medication.

Joachim Benedikt Bretzel

Screening Water Diversions to Support Freshwater Fish Conservation in the Murray–Darling Basin

Irrigation systems are impacting native fish in the Murray–Darling Basin, Australia through direct extraction. This research found that native fish are being extracted into irrigation systems, reducing fish populations and threatening re-stocking programs for various species. By testing and installing protective fish screens, the study shows that entrainment can be reduced by over 92 per cent, helping to protect aquatic life while maintaining water delivery for agriculture.

Allister Troy Clarke

Deciphering Head Rice Yield: Interpretable Machine Learning Models for Rice Milling Quality Predictions in Australia

This study developed machine learning models to predict Head Rice Yield (HRY) and identify factors influencing crop outcomes using data from farm management, climate, satellites, and soil. The model insights offer valuable tools to improve post-harvest processes and financial returns for growers. These results highlight the potential of data-driven insights to enhance crop management strategies and support global food security ambitions.

Mitchell Alec Cowan

Wildlife in Mining Landscapes: a Case Study of the Endangered Northern Quoll (Dasyurus Hallucatus)

This research investigated the impacts of mining on animal communities, with a focus on the endangered northern quoll in Australia's Pilbara region. Findings showed that mining reshaped wildlife composition and reduced the dispersion of functional roles. Northern quolls exhibited increased energy costs and reduced habitat connectivity in mining areas, highlighting the need for increased conservation of rocky habitats and movement corridors to sustain populations.

Emily May Cross

Understanding Mechanisms of Nuclear Transport During Viral Infection

Proteins move from cytoplasm to nucleus through interaction with specialist receptors known as importins. Viruses hijack these pathways to enhance viral replication or evade an immune response. This thesis has used x-ray diffraction, Small angle x-ray scattering, and biochemical assays to better understand protein interactions occurring during viral infection. The results from this doctorate form a platform for the future development of new antivirals.

Borkwei Ed Nignpense

The Role of Cereal Polyphenols in Gastrointestinal Health and Inflammation

This research explored the health benefits of pigmented grains, which are rich in antioxidants called polyphenols. Although their absorption in the body is limited, the study found that key antioxidants from purple rice and barley can be released during digestion. These antioxidants, even with partial absorption, were shown to reduce inflammation and protect intestinal cells, highlighting their potential in developing functional foods that promote better health.

Tracey Amy Gale

An Examination of the Lived Experiences of Indigenous Women in Elite and Sub-elite Australian Rules Football and Rugby League

Adopting a third wave feminist perspective, this study analysed the lived experiences of 29 Indigenous female athletes competing in the elite and sub-elite sporting environments of Australian rules football and rugby league. This research showed that while there were positive experiences shared by participants in both sports, barriers are still evident in relation to poor pathways, racism and discrimination and the level of support received as female athletes.

Mikayla Hoad

Mechanisms of Capsid Protein Nuclear Import Across Divergent Adeno-Associated Virus Serotypes

The thesis explored how adeno-associated viruses enter the cell nucleus using biochemical assays and high-resolution structures. Key findings identified AAV capsid interactions with host import proteins and revealed nuclear localisation signals with serotype-specific variations. These insights offer strategies to optimize AAV vectors, advancing next-generation gene therapies for genetic disorders.

Marnie Joan Hodge

Genomic and Transcriptomic Analysis of Semen Traits in Australian Sheep

This thesis examines genetic factors influencing male fertility in Australian sheep, and its further influence on pregnancy success following artificial insemination (AI). Findings highlight the critical role of semen motility, influenced partly by the ram's genetics. Key genes linked to sperm quality and fertility are identified, offering potential for breeding more fertile rams to enhance lamb production and profitability of sheep farming.

Grant Linley

The Impacts of the 2019–2020 Wildfires on Terrestrial Species in Forest of South-Eastern Australia

This research examines the impacts of the 2019–2020 Australian wildfires on forest species in South-Eastern Australia. It defines "megafire" based on size limits. By studying wombat burrows as post-fire refuges, it reveals their importance for wildlife survival. The study investigates how fire severity affects animal species at site and landscape scales, highlighting species' resilience and informing fire management strategies.

Ryan Lachlan McGrath

Experiences and Practices of Australian Physiotherapists with Clients Experiencing Psychological Distress

This thesis explored physiotherapists' encounters with clients experiencing psychological distress. While physiotherapists are often viewed as physical health professionals, the findings revealed that encounters with clients experiencing psychological distress were common. Physiotherapists reported a lack of confidence and heightened personal stress when supporting clients experiencing psychological distress, indicating a need for more training in mental health.

Thilini Surenika Munasinghe

Structural Analysis of ORF4b protein of Middle East Respiratory Syndrome Coronavirus (MERS-CoV) in Complex with Host Proteins and its Role in Innate Immunity

The thesis investigates how MERS-CoV, a virus causing severe respiratory illness, uses its ORF4b protein to evade immunodefences by hijacking cellular transport proteins called importins. The study uncovers a unique binding mechanism, showing that even small mutations can change how ORF4b disrupts immune and cellular pathways. These insights highlight potential strategies for antiviral therapies, targeting virus-host interactions to better control infections.

Sadichchha Neupane Adhikari

Improving Smallholder Coffee Farmer's Production and Export Potential in Nepal

This thesis explores Nepal's coffee industry, focusing on smallholder farmers and their challenges and opportunities. It identifies key factors affecting coffee cultivation, pricing dynamics, and export potential. Positive national trends are contrasted with challenges in specific districts, necessitating interventions. Policy recommendations emphasise supporting farmers to increase production and aligning strategies to identify Nepalese coffee in the global market.

Lauren Joy Stoot

Predicting the Impacts of River Development on Fish Movement and Population Connectivity: A Case study on the Clarence River System

Understanding movement ecology and habitat use of the blue salmon catfish is critical for the Clarence River Basin. Biotelemetry, water and otolith microchemistry, determined that estuarine habitats were preferred with occasional freshwater movements. Seasonal and sex-specific movements patterns were most influenced by temperature and flow. Effective river management must consider species needs, and development outcomes, to minimise impacts on ecosystem function.

Dylan Westaway

The Conservation Potential of Small Habitat Fragments for Reptiles: Insights from Monitoring, Genomics and Translocations

My thesis investigated the value of small patches of remnant vegetation on farms for biodiversity conservation, with a focus on reptiles. The results show biodiversity value of farmland habitat is comparable to national park sites, and that conservation translocations could be a useful tool for wildlife restoration. Given the vast area covered by farmland, this work highlights a huge opportunity to integrate biodiversity conservation into agricultural landscapes.
