Researchers Slide Show - Introduce Yourself on Five Campuses

All FOAE researchers are invited to contribute a PowerPoint slide that introduces them and their research interests. The slides will play on a continuous loop at each of five research office roadshow days in August (see below). Many of you will remember the great slide show from the Forum last year click here to refresh your memory.

Your contribution: All researchers have the opportunity to (re)submit a slide which will introduce themselves and their research interests. This is a great way for researchers to introduce themselves to researchers in other schools and on other campuses.

The layout of the slide is open to each researcher – although ideally it will include a personal photo and include details of your research, BUT most importantly, reflect YOU.

Please send your slide to the Faculty Research Liaison Officer – Lisa McLean by the 11th of August.

Save the Date! Research Roadshow

Predatory Journals Hit By 'Star Wars' Sting

A classic case of what can happen when someone (in this case journal editors) doesn't know their Star Wars' references.

There will be sessions on employment, applying for funding, publishing, and peer-mentoring, with an interactive session on engaging with your audience.

Confirmed speakers include (alphabetical order): Associate Professor Maryrose Casey (Monash University, ARC College of Experts), Associate Professor Kay Cook (Swinburne University of Technology, ARC Future Fellow), Natalie Davall (Routledge/Taylor & Francis), Misha Ketchell (The Conversation), Dr Tseen Khoo (Research Whisperer, La Trobe University), CHASS Board member Associate Professor Jo Lindsay (Monash University, The Australian Sociological Association), Jonathan O'Donnell (Research Whisperer, RMIT University), and Jeannie Rea (National Tertiary Education Union).
