1998 Gifts Target Reached

Congratulations! The target amount of $5,000 for 1998 was reached when 178 WWTC Alumni contributed $5120, an average $29 each, towards the Alumni Scholarship Appeal over the past eight months. This amount represents 20.8% of our target of $25,000 over five years and from only 9% of the known WWTC Alumni population. The names of those that have given since the last issue of TALKABOUT appear on page 5. Thank you very much.

REMEMBER any gift over $2 is TAX DEDUCTIBLE.

STOP PRESS

The Board of Governors of Charles Sturt University at their last meeting held in Wagga Wagga on 4th December 1998 formally approved the constitution of the Wagga Wagga Teachers' College Alumni Association. In so doing the Board acknowledged the important contribution WWTC and its Alumni have made to the educational foundations on which the University has been established and welcome that continuing support.

Letter from the President

Pilgrims Progress - I sometimes feel as if your Alumni Committee can be likened to a band of Pilgrims on a journey that is at times fruitful but is also littered with problems that are in need of solutions.

One of the great rewards is the renewal of contacts with our friends and acquaintances of yesteryear. I had the distinct pleasure of such an experience when I spoke recently to Dr. Joyce Wylie. She has an exceptional memory and has vivid and fond memories of her tenure at WWTC. Dr Wylie has accepted an invitation to join Dr Vic Couch as guest speakers for the reunion planned for April 24-25 1999 in Canberra. What a joy that will be (no pun intended).

Communication is still a concern for your Alumni Committee. The frequency of the TALKABOUT publication is placing a tremendous strain on the limited resources of the CSU Alumni Office who are most co-operative and willing- but what are the alternatives? The Editorial Committee, despite their dedication and skills are also experiencing difficulties in presenting an interesting and expanding journal because of a dearth of contributions. We seek to involve more of our Alumni membership in this project, particularly if it leads to the identification of these whom we seek to remove from our "Missing students and Lecturers' list". Perhaps these words from John Bunyan's Pilgrims Progress may inspire more to be actively involved in alumni matters.

'What novelties they have, to us they give,

That we, though pilgrims, joyful lives may live.

They do upon us, too, such things bestow,

That show we pilgrims are, where're we go.'

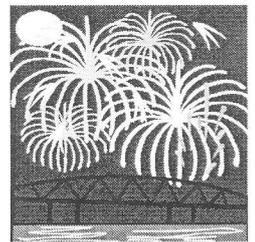

Reunions are wonderful occasions. The fact that many people are willing and able to spend the time and effort in organising these events and that so many people joyfully respond, is an indication of their importance. Not only are these occurrences important for the physical reuniting of colleagues and their families, but they serve the priceless purpose of rekindling the spirit that is treasured by so many of us. When we meet at our reunions let's try and make our gatherings as meaningful as possible. Provide the editors of 'TALKABOUT' and the Alumni Office with details, stories and if possible pictures. Pursue with those present the whereabouts of absentees- some of whom we have been unable to trace. Stories fly thick and fast - record them and send them on to John Riley. We are all interested in these functions and take great delight in reading of the times when WWTC was probably the most important aspect of our lives. Spread the message - enjoy the reunions - gather the information and LET'S ALL ENJOY YOUR REUNION.

Please come to the Annual General Meeting on February 9th 1999.

New Years greetings to all.

Bob Collard

WWTC 1949-50 MINI REUNION

This year, 1998 I was delighted with a mini reunion with a small group of Pioneer students in Cowra. My husband and I had planned to celebrate our wedding anniversary in Lamington National Park. On our way up north from Adelaide, we stayed with Janette Perry (nee Porter) and husband in Eugowra and it was she who arranged for us to meet with the group in Cowra. Out came the photos and we remembered the various aspects of life at W.W.T.C in 49/50. Half of our winning netball team were there and we haven't changed a bit (inside that is). The photos were black and white, of course, but it was great recognising who was who in the tiny group photos.

Report of the Reunion of the 1952/3 Sessions

On 22nd and 23rd of September, 1998 over fifty ex students and spouses met in Canberra. Our activities included visits to Floriade and dinner at night. A minibus was hired to convey over twenty enthusiasts for a trip to the Madew Winery overlooking Lake George, off the Federal Highway. David Madew proved to be a talented and enthusiastic host for our lunch in his beautiful home with almost 360 degree views of the countryside. At our dinners and on this lunch occasion there was lots of time for "catching up" chat. Our committee has been asked to set a date for the next reunion. We are proud that friendships formed at what was originally Wagga Wagga Teachers College continue and that one of our original lecturers (and renowned educator) Ruby Riach always attends our reunions.

Harbour Luncheon Cruise

Spring could not have provided better weather for the luncheon cruise arranged by June Hadley for 1st September. An even dozen WTC 1948-50 people, spouses and friends were the lucky ones on this cruise, able to take in the beauties of Sydney Harbour while consuming a sumptuous lunch. Though the air on the deck of the luxury catamaran was pleasantly cool and there was not a cloud in the sky, inside, the friendship was warm. Unfortunately, commentary on passing points of interest was lost amid conversation in this convivial atmosphere.

It was a great pity that numbers could not have been greater.

The Class of 1958-59 at their Reunion in August

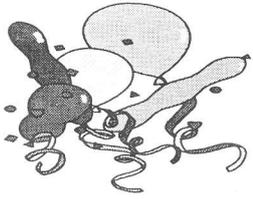

A small group from the class of 1958-59 had a wonderful reunion in Wagga Wagga on the weekend of 29 & 30 August, where many a friendship was rekindled and many more stories were told.

The weekend began with an earlybirds get together on Friday night at Romanos. The name tags were very welcome as people tried to match the faces of today with those remembered from 40 years ago. As people talked, the years seemed to evaporate and it was 1958 all over again. Lunch on Saturday and more especially the Dinner in the evening brought everyone closer still to the days of WWTC.

The reunion concluded with an Ecumenical Service and Brunch on Sunday. And as they say about any great time out – "Everyone went home tired but happy".

MEMORIES FROM COLLEGE DAYS

By Marjorie Hartwig (Cameron)

TEACHING MEMORIES

Recently received from Graeme Wilson (1947-1949) were four memories from his early teaching days which are of the kind we are seeking for our proposed anthology.

One tells how he struggled to ride to school during his early appointments on a trusty bicycle over terrain that was not always easy.

Another tells of the remarkable strength of one of his parents in an emergency situation. He was able to rescue his wife trapped beneath a large tractor tyre filled with water which later defied the efforts of four men to lift without mechanical aid.

A third tells of Graeme's first experience of being the Returning Officer at his one-teacher school when he was still not even entitled to vote.

There must be dozens of memorable characters and incidents like these which we have in our memories. Please put pen to paper or fingers to keyboard and send your contributions to JOHN RILEY, 2 Woorak Cres, MIRANDA, NSW, 2228.

I can still remember the slabs of reconstituted scrambled eggs we had for breakfast. Puns were a feature of conversation at our table. I remember trying to beat Warwick at his game.

After hours spent in the Craft Room I finished making a cane suitcase and used it to carry all my books home when I left. I didn't manage to devise a secure catch, so ended up using the good old leather straps to tie it up. The Cameron tartan scarf that I made in those days was only recently passed on to one of my granddaughters.

As President of a Friendship Club here in Adelaide, I was conducting a committee meeting recently. At the luncheon that followed, to my surprise I discovered a member talking about W.W.T.C. reunions. He had trained as a mature student about ten years after I had left. Does anyone remember Don Millard ?

I taught at Bathurst Demonstration School until I moved to S.A. When in Bathurst I had to prepare regular demonstration lessons with notes and questions for students who were training as teachers. About thirty students with their lecturer came to sit at the back of the classroom to watch me teach the prepared lesson. Discussion of the lesson steps and questions followed once the children had been dismissed. In one Nature Study lesson I was relieved to find that all of the live chicks had survived the handling by the thirty five to forty Kindergarten children in my class. I rode my bike with the box of chicks on the carrier and returned them safely on my way home.

In the S.A., demonstration schools worked differently. I was given one student who was assigned to my class for a six week practice period. She was present to observe me all day but had to prepare some lessons to teach. It was my job to observe and write her report. The lecturer arrived now and then to discuss her progress.

This year I finally retired and have declined to do any more relief work in Pre-Schools. I resigned from full time work as Director of a Family Centre where activities ranged from Play Groups, Immunisation, Child & Adolescent Health Care, Toy Library and Community Activities.

The concept of such a centre didn't exist when I was training.

I've always enjoyed teaching very young children but now I take pleasure in babysitting my grandchildren and watching their development.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

In a foolscap page Col Yarham writes to us to contribute to this segment. It can be summarised as follows :

In retirement Col heads up a consultancy called Health Education International, an organisation which has undertaken research and development tasks for developing countries.

Its present project is in Tamilnadu State in India where it has had accepted for implementation a Schools Total Health Program Curriculum. This is to be a required subject from Grades 1 to 12. A corollary of this is the training of Teachers and Administrators to facilitate its implementation.

It is hoped that the new Curriculum will go into all schools in India impacting on 200 million children.

Col's fact sheet reflects his great enthusiasm for his work which sees him nine months of the year "on the road". He urges us all as a true zealot, to not only look back as we do through our association but also to look forward as he says "there is a wonderful world out there now".

FOUND

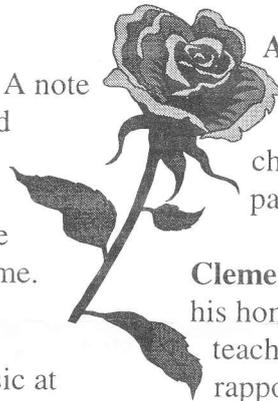

Audrey Boyton (1949-50) - now Mrs Audrey Peake living at Currabubula near Tamworth recently contacted Dot Judd after hearing of the 1999 Canberra reunion in a round a bout fashion. She is very keen to catch up with old friends of WWTC days.

Donald Francis Gunter (1948-50) - Don died early September after a protracted battle with illness.

Ron Holland (1949-58 English Lecturer) A note from Ron's daughter advises that Ron died unexpectedly in his sleep on May 20th this year aged 84. He had been physically and mentally active, happy and totally unaware of any looming problem right up to this time.

Brenda Kitchingman - wife of John Kitchingman (BTC 1956) who taught music at WWTC during the 60's passed away in early August in Hertfordshire, UK.

We Remember

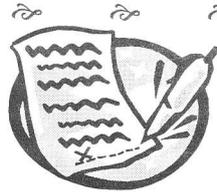

As a result of an appeal in the last issue, Jack Clark (1948-50) who resided in the same dormitory as Arthur Morgan, has let us know that he believes Arthur passed away some years ago. This information coming to him by chance in about 1988 when interviewing a parent who turned out to be Arthur's daughter.

Clements Bruce Gordon (1949-51) - Bruce died at his home in Dubbo on 22nd October aged 68. A teacher for all his working life his rapport with students was legendary while his contribution to the theatre in Dubbo was inestimable.

Letter to the Editors

SIRS,

You are to be congratulated on the March issue of Talkabout, the newsletter that it is hoped will bring graduates of WWTC together, in many cases in the "twilight" of their years. Might I comment on a few features of this issue.

Almost without exception the CONTENT was heading in the right direction for a publication of this kind,, and no doubt you will think of improvements in subsequent issues. There was a balance of material between feature articles from early editions, presidential comment, notices of coming functions and the list of colleagues no longer with us.

Your Publisher/Printer also deserves praise for his/her LAYOUT of -Talkabout, making use of programs available in this age of computers which were not even thought of in the ,"pioneer" days. The use of varying numbers of columns helped to break up bodies of text; sections were bordered to highlight these while the use of simple graphics added a special touch.

Dare I make a suggestion for the BANNER which emblazons that this is "A PUBLICATION OF THE ALUMNI OF WAGGA TEACHERS' COLLEGE"? This, if I could use the analogy, makes the point with the subtlety of a Stormtrooper kicking in the head of an unfortunate concentration camp victim, when something resembling the touch of Titania's wand would seem to be preferable. When it is already in BOLD, BLOCK LETTERS, why does it also have to be UNDERLINED? The same underlining also seems unnecessary under the NAME of the publication.

In the pioneer days of Talkabout there was possibly not the range of FONTS available, and every effort had to be made to give emphasis. But today there are plenty of fonts in use, both plain and stylized, without needing to go to the extremes referred to above.

Some neat fonts which come to mind are Comic Sans, Courier New, Garamond, Lucinda Sans, Lucinda Handwriting et al. Perhaps some consideration might be given to converting the abovementioned segment of the header to one of these.

I assure you, dear Sirs, that these "Comments and suggestions" are made in all earnestness, but in the best possible humour.

Keep up the good work.

Reply

Thank you for your encouraging thoughts. Your suggestions are noted. The almost original "Talkabout" banner was resurrected for nostalgic reasons. Do you remember students being asked to purchase three copies of each edition in order to defray costs?
