SheThinks Cambodian Women's Research Network and Charles Sturt collaboration

What are the experiences of women working in academia in Cambodia? Despite steady increases in participation since the 1990s, Cambodian women continue to face significant barriers but there are also enabling factors such as peer networks and supportive policies as well. Join us to hear from women academics currently working in Cambodian universities. The session will be structured as a facilitated discussion that centres Cambodian women's voices and highlights strategies for advancing gender equality in the academy.
