

FOOD EVOLUTION

Exploring the GM debate

The documentary Food Evolution explores the controversy surrounding GMOs and food. Enlisting farmers and scientists from around the world the documentary separates the hype and emotion from the science and data to unravel the debate around food, helping audiences reach their own conclusions. In a debate in which all sides claim to be on the side of science, Food Evolution brings a fresh perspective to one of the most critical issues facing global society today.

Graham Centre member Professor Jim Pratley will chair a Q & A Panel following the documentary. Panel members Dr Carl Ramage, Rautaki Solutions, Dr James Petrie, CSIRO and Mr Mark Swift, Nuffield Scholar and farmer, will address questions from the floor, sharing their expert knowledge, promoting awareness and discussion of the use of GMO's in our farming systems.
